

THE INSTITUTE OF MEDICINE OF CHICAGO

CALL FOR 2018 AWARD NOMINATIONS

The IOMC Award for Public Service

Presented to a Chicago Metropolitan area healthcare professional who has a longstanding history of highly valuable public service on a voluntary basis. Such service should have enhanced the health of residents of the Chicago metropolitan area. The healthcare professional need not be a Fellow of the IOMC.

The IOMC Humanitarian Global Health Award

Presented to a Chicago metropolitan area individual or organization that has provided voluntary, longstanding, and international humanitarian health service(s). The recipient need not be a Fellow or affiliated with the IOMC.

The Portes/IOMC Award for Excellence in Prevention of Disease

Awarded periodically to an individual in the Illinois/Chicago region who has shown excellence in health promotion and disease prevention by their contributions in the area of prevention of disease, and the remediation of disability and human suffering. The individual need not be a Fellow of the IOMC.

Innovation in Health Care/Deliver

The Innovations in Health Care/Health Care Delivery Award recognizes an individual or organization that has implemented an approach, strategy or improvement in health care or health care delivery that enhances patient care, equity and/or improves outcomes. The healthcare professional need not be a Fellow of the IOMC.

Lifetime Achievement Award

The Lifetime Achievement Award is a rare recognition provided by the Institute to an individual whose contributions, meaning and significance to the Institute cannot be expressed in any other way. Acknowledges an individual and a career as a healthcare leader and abiding commitment to the welfare of patients and health of the citizens of Chicago.

The Nomination Process

Nominations for the above awards are solicited from local healthcare and non-profit organizations and from the membership of The Institute of Medicine of Chicago.

An individual or organization may submit more than one candidate nomination.

The Institute of Medicine of Chicago has formed a committee to conduct the selection process and propose final candidates for the IOMC Board of Governors. The final 2018 award recipient(s) will be presented at the Annual Meeting of The Institute of Medicine of Chicago. All nominations will be kept confidential by those involved in the selection process.

The Institute of Medicine of Chicago is a non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to promote the study and advancement of health sciences and their application to human needs.

The Institute provides educational programs and publications, conducts studies, and promotes educational and service directions in health care for the benefit of the Metropolitan Chicago community.
