

Sandra L. Larson, PhD, CRNA, APRN, FAANA, FNAP
Founding Dean, College of Nursing
Vice President, Clinical Partnerships
Rosalind Franklin University

Sandra Larson is the Founding Dean of Rosalind Franklin University's College of Nursing and Vice President for Clinical Partnerships. Larson is a certified registered nurse anesthetist with a specialty in cardiothoracic and vascular anesthesia and also holds a doctorate in public policy analysis. She has blended clinical nurse anesthesia practice with teaching, research, higher education administration, and partnership development. In 2021, she was distinguished to be inducted into the inaugural group of Fellows of the American Association of Nurse Anesthetists.

Dr. Larson holds a:

- Ph.D. University of Illinois, Chicago, IL
Graduate Schools of Education & Political Science
Doctor of Philosophy in Public Policy Analysis, December 2004
- MSN Rush University, Chicago, IL
Graduate School of Nursing
Master of Science in Nurse Anesthesia, 1983
- BSN University of Illinois, Chicago, IL
College of Nursing
Bachelor of Science in Nursing, 1979
- ADN Parkland Junior College, Champaign, IL
Associate of Science in Nursing, 1975

###